

Update to Engineering Information (EI) Sheets (or Specification Sheets) of Hydraulic Accessories

Yuken India Limited has been marketing and selling various hydraulic accessories to its customers with a view of meeting all the needs of a customers when it comes to hydraulics or hydraulic equipment.

Different specification sheets are circulated as a part of our marketing efforts as the offering range has grown continuously. We felt a need to harmonise the different editions and to incorporate several feedback received from customers.

The latest versions are all clearly identified by a 'green' border and a clearly printed Publication Date on the relevant document. A consolidated

'Accessories EI Sheets' is also uploaded on the Yuken India Website for easy and uniform access. These are living documents and will undergo changes from time to time with additions and upgrades to the product range. Versions available on our website shall remain the most recent and updated.

We thank you for patronising us and hope that you continue to do so. You can reach out to your nearest Yuken representative for further information or clarification. Contacts are also available on our website.